COURSE DESCRIPTION Electronic Medical Records (EMR) systems represent the ability to record and handle medical records for effective health information exchange. In addition to basic billing purposes, accurate medical records improve individual patient care. Further, the ability to process and analyze medical records, while still maintaining privacy and confidentiality in healthcare, allows healthcare professionals to examine community healthcare patterns and develop new ways to leverage resources and lower overall healthcare costs. Electronic Medical Records (EMR), have made the sharing and archiving of medical records a quicker and more efficient process.

COURSE COST $295.00

TEXTBOOKS Available at York Technical College Bookstore- approximately $50

REQUIREMENTS Internet access, email, the Microsoft Internet Explorer or Mozilla Firefox Web browser
